

Lunch Bunch
at the
Arizona Capitol Museum

Sustainability, Water, and Development

The Central Arizona Project

Presented by Grady Gammage Jr.

The Central Arizona Project (CAP) is a 336 mile canal that brings over 1.5 million acre feet of water from the Colorado River to central and southern Arizona. Grady Gammage Jr. former president of the CAP board of directors, will relate the events leading to the construction of the canal, and discuss issues pertinent to the CAP today.

Arizona Capitol Museum
1700 West Washington
Phoenix, AZ 85007

Wednesday September 16, 2009
12:15-1:00

Free and open to the Public!
Bring your Lunch

Refreshments provided courtesy of the Arizona Capitol Museum Guild

Grady Gammage, Jr. is a part time academic, a practicing lawyer, an author, a sometime real estate developer and a former elected official. As a Senior Fellow at ASU's Morrison Institute, he focuses on urban growth and development, quality of life, and local economic issues.

Next Lunch Bunch: We Decorate the Dead, el Dia de los Muertos
Wednesday October 21, 2009, presented by Zarco Guerrero

For more information about Lunch Bunch please visit www.lib.az.us/museum or call 602-926-3620